Full Text of JOE Listing:

RAND's Economics, Sociology, and Statistics Department has openings for applied microeconomists at all levels of experience. RAND economists may choose to develop research agendas in any of the many active research areas at RAND and teach policy PhD students in the Pardee RAND Graduate School. We seek candidates with strong research potential or accomplishments in the areas of health and health policy, labor, aging, economic development, environment, education, civil and criminal justice, and defense.

More information about economics at RAND is available from <http://www.rand.org/economics/>.

Applicants should have a PhD or expect one by September 2018 and demonstrated research skills, a strong interest in policy-relevant empirical analysis, and excellent written and oral communication skills.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research paper, and three letters of recommendation at <https://econjobmarket.org/>. Applications will be considered ONLY through EconJobMarket; please DO NOT apply at www.rand.org or by email.

Applications received by November 15, 2017, will be considered for interviews at the 2018 ASSA/AEA meetings.
