Position Announcement

The University of Oregon Department of Economics invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin Fall 2025. We seek candidates with research interests in, or overlapping with, the field of industrial organization. Qualified candidates must demonstrate potential for outstanding research and teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Department or Program Summary

The Department of Economics is dedicated to building a diverse community that is committed to teaching and working in an inclusive environment. Successful candidates will support and enhance these goals. Please include in your application a statement that addresses your past and/or planned future contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion, such as research, teaching, mentoring or other outreach aimed at understanding and/or reducing barriers for underrepresented or disadvantaged groups. Additional information about the Department of Economics at the University of Oregon can be found by visiting their website at <https://socialsciences.uoregon.edu/economics>.

Minimum Requirements

- Ph.D. in economics completed by September 15, 2025.
- Research interests in, or overlapping with, the field of industrial organization.
- Potential for outstanding research and teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Preferred Qualifications

Advanced assistant professors with an established, strong research record are encouraged to apply.

All offers of employment are contingent upon successful completion of a background check.
