Qualifications:

The Department of Economics is seeking to fill two Assistant Professor, Tenure-Track positions. A Ph.D. in Economics or a related discipline is required by the time of appointment (August 19, 2020). Priority will be given to candidates with research interests in two or more of the following fields: Economic History, Law and Economics, Industrial Organization/Antitrust, Health Economics, Labor, and Development. Candidates must have either a record of publication or demonstrate a capacity to develop and sustain a research program that will result in peer-reviewed publications. At the time of appointment, candidates must meet current AACSB International standards for classification as Scholarly Academic (SA), and must continue to maintain this classification throughout their tenure.

Candidates must be able to communicate effectively and work cooperatively with departmental colleagues in a diverse campus community. Candidates must also possess the ability to educate and mentor a diverse student population. Preference will be given to applicants who are competent in using current technologies and innovative pedagogies. Teaching flexibility is highly desirable.

At time of appointment, the successful candidate, if not a U.S. citizen, must have authorization from the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services to work in the United States.

Responsibilities:

These two positions in economics will involve teaching undergraduate Business and Economic students and MBA level students. All candidates are expected to have a strong background in economic theory and exhibit potential for producing publishable research. In order to earn promotion and tenure, faculty are required to engage in research that results in refereed publications and demonstrate an ongoing commitment to effective teaching and service to the university. Faculty engaged in research and publication are normally provided reassigned time to support their professional activities.

The successful candidate will be held to the standards and requirements of the college and department in which he/she is housed for recommending tenure and promotion.

Application Deadline:

Screening of applications will begin November 1, 2019. Priority will be given to applicants who meet the screening deadline; however, the positions will remain open until filled.

How to Apply:

Applicants must submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three current letters of recommendation, and evidence of scholarship. Candidates must submit their materials through the American Economic Association's JOE portal (<https://www.aeaweb.org/joe>). In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses, and certificates.

Inquiries can be addressed to:
